IN RE: Irving G. Smith)
Dist. 1, Map 50A, Group A, Control Map 50A) Wilson County Parcel 19.00, S.I. 000)
Residential Property)
Tax Year 2005)

INITIAL DECISION AND ORDER

Statement of the Case

The Wilson County Assessor of Property ("Assessor") valued the subject property for tax purposes as follows:

Land Value	Improvement Value	Total Value	Assessment
$150,000	$0	$150,000	$37,500

An Appeal has been filed on behalf of the property owner with the State Board of Equalization on July 27, 2005.

This matter was reviewed by the undersigned administrative law judge pursuant to Tennessee Code Annotated (T.C.A.) §§ 67-5-1412, 67-5-1501 and 67-5-1505. This hearing was conducted on February 27, 2006 at the Wilson County Property Assessor's Office; present at the hearing were Irving and Dorothy Smith, the taxpayers, who represented themselves, Jimmy Locke, the Wilson County Property Assessor and Jeff White and Kevin Woodard also from for the Wilson County Property Assessor's Office.

Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

The subject property consists of a parcel of land comprised of one (1) acre known as Lot 16 Harbor Drive, in Old Hickory, Tennessee.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith presented a portfolio of information.¹ Included in the portfolio is a color aerial copy of the subject property and the surrounding properties. Mrs. Smith stated that the property is land locked with no access to the water. Property has been refused permission to participate in the Community Boat Dock. She also states that there is no water frontage for the property and no opportunities because of the topography problems contour lines too steep for residential use. Taxpayers stated that the property should be worth $125,000.00. The taxpayers also state "We bought this lot for $35,000.00 in 1985. The new appraisal is $200,000.00² up from $70,000.00". The taxpayers allege that the comparables used by the County are not really comparable because of the differences between their land and the ones used by the county to arrive at the value of the subject.

The basis of valuation as stated in Tennessee Code Annotated § 67-5-601(a) provides (in relevant part) that "[t]he value of all property shall be ascertained from the evidence of its sound, intrinsic and immediate value, for purposes of sale between a willing seller and a willing buyer without consideration of speculative values...."

General appraisal principles require that the market, cost and income approaches to value be used whenever possible. Appraisal Institute, The Appraisal of Real Estate at 50 and 62. (12th ed. 2001). However, certain approaches to value may be more meaningful than others with respect to a specific type of property and such is noted in the correlation of value indicators to determine the final value estimate. The value indicators must be judged in three categories: (1) the amount and reliability of the data collected in each approach; (2) the inherent strengths and weaknesses of each approach; and (3) the relevance of each approach to the subject of the appraisal. Id. at 597-603.

The value to be determined in the present case is market value. A generally accepted definition of market value for ad valorem tax purposes is that it is the most probable price expressed in terms of money that a property would bring if exposed for sale in the open market in an arm's length transaction between a willing seller and a willing buyer, both of whom are knowledgeable concerning all the uses to which it is adapted and for which it is capable of being used. Id. at 21-22.

The administrative judge finds that the fair market value of subject property as of January 1, 2005, constitutes the relevant issue. The administrative judge finds that the Assessment Appeals Commission has repeatedly rejected arguments based upon the amount by which an appraisal has increased as a consequence of reappraisal. For example, the Commission rejected such an argument in E.B. Kissell, Jr. (Shelby County, Tax Years 1991 and 1992) reasoning in pertinent part as follows:

The rate of increase in the assessment of the subject property since the last reappraisal or even last year may be alarming but is not evidence that the value is wrong. It is conceivable that values may change dramatically for some properties, even over so short of time as a year. . .

The best evidence of the present value of a residential property is generally sales of properties comparable to the subject, comparable in features relevant to value. Perfect comparability is not required, but relevant differences should be explained and accounted for by reasonable adjustments. If evidence of a sale is presented without the required analysis of comparability, it is difficult or impossible for us to use the sale as an indicator of value. . . . Final Decision and Order at 2. Moreover, the Assessment Appeals Commission has ruled that taxes are irrelevant to the issue of value. See John C. & Patricia A. Hume, (Shelby Co., Tax Year 1991).

After having reviewed all the evidence in this case; the administrative judge finds that the taxpayers have not sustained their burden and that the subject property should remain at the previously assessed values.

The taxpayers have gone to a great deal of trouble to produce an aerial photograph so that the administrative judge could have a better understanding of the lay of the land (exhibit #3).

Since the taxpayers are appealing from the determination of the Wilson County Board of Equalization, the burden of proof is on the taxpayers. See State Board of Equalization Rule 0600-1-.11(1) and Big Fork Mining Company v. Tennessee Water Quality Control Board, 620 S.W.2d 515 (Tenn. App. 1981).

The Taxpayers have not sustained that burden.

Order

It is FURTHER ORDERED that any applicable hearing costs be assessed pursuant to Tenn. Code Ann. § 67-5-1501(d) and State Board of Equalization Rule 0600-1-.17.
